DETAILED ACTION

The objection to the specification is withdrawn in view of the amendments adding reference to the counterpart PCT application.

The rejection under section 112, second paragraph is withdrawn in view of applicant's clarification regarding the structure of the R⁴ group.

The anticipation rejection over Li is withdrawn since Li fails to teach the presence of an acid. The following is a new ground of rejection.

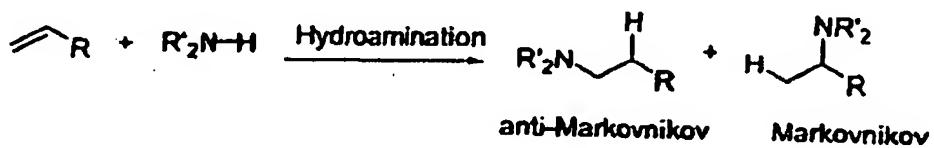

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li in view of US 6,080,857 to Sibi et al. (Sibi).

, Li teaches the following process conducted with diphosphine ligands

Scheme 1. Hydroamination of an olefin.

See page 251.

Specifically, the process is done in reference with the following amines and unsaturated carboxylic acid derivatives of the following table 2:

Entry	Catalyst	Alkene	Amine	Product	T/PC	Yield (%)
1	2a			 9	rt	88
2	2b				rt	69
3	2c				rt	86
4	2d				rt	61
5	2a			 10	100	32 44 ^b
6	2a				100	37 50 ^b
7	2a				rt	80
8	2a			 13	rt	100
9	2a				100	55
10	2a			 15	rt	62
11	2a			 16	100	64
12	2a			 17	100	78

See page 254, specifically, entries 1-7 and 11.

Li fails to teach the presence of an acid. However, it is for this proposition that the examiner joins Sibi, which teach hydroamination of amino acids is effected with a Lewis acid catalyst, see column 1, lines 45+, for example. In this regard it would have been well within the purview of those of ordinary skill to provide an acid catalyst to the reaction of the instant claims since Sibi teaches that hydroamination is conventionally conducted with these catalyst, and is therefore prima facie obvious.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

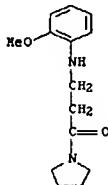

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

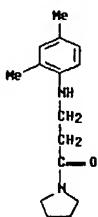

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Renzi et al., Gazzetta Chimica Italiana (1956), 86, 1332-5 (Renzi)

Renzi teaches the following compounds which anticipate claim 6.

See attached CAS online citations from STN; Columbus, OH, USA.
